

BRISTOL IS CURIOUS

Asks Why Cannon Backs Guggenheim Interests.

QUOTES FIGURES ON TARIFF

Says Regular Republicans Broke Platform Pledges.

COST OF SMELTING LEAD ORE

Kansas Says Duty is Far in Excess. Shows How Change Was Made in Senate.

MANHATTAN, Kan., July 22.—Senator Joseph L. Bristol, at his home last night charged Speaker Cannon and the "stand-pat" representatives with manipulation of the lead schedules of the tariff bill in support of the "smelter trust," so-called.

"A duty not measuring the difference in the cost of smelting at home and abroad, as promised in the republican platform, but from $2.50 to $6 higher than the entire cost of smelting in this country, was imposed on lead," the senator said.

"This was done not in the interest of protecting the struggling American industry, but in the interest of a monopoly controlled by the Guggenheims, backed by the great Rockefeller financial interests."

"Because I presume to object to this sort of thing Mr. Cannon calls me a democrat, a demagogue, a lunatic and a pickpocket."

"Mr. Cannon, holding the office of Speaker of the House, second in power and dignity in this government, has been traveling over the country for a number of days denouncing the 'insurgents,' myself in particular."

"Instead of indulging in vituperation, why does he not give the reason why he insisted upon ignoring the plain, specific declarations of the republican national platform? Why did he stand by the Senate in the interest of the Guggenheims?"

Duty on Lead in Ore.
The duty on lead in ore, as the tariff bill passed the House, was $30 a ton. The duty on pig lead, or lead bullion, was the same.

"The bill came to the Senate and was referred to the committee on finance, of which Mr. Aldrich is chairman. It was reported back with the duty on pig lead increased from $30 to $42.50 a ton, making a difference of $12.50 between lead in ore and lead bullion."

"Therefore, according to the republican national platform and campaign platform, the duty on lead bullion was increased in the cost of smelting lead in the United States and in our competing countries."

Figures Before Committee.
"Edward B. Rush, general manager of the American Smelting and Refining Company, an organization which controls 90 per cent of the lead smelters of the United States, before the committee of the House that the entire cost of reducing lead from ore to bullion, from actual figures, ranged from $3.50 to $10.00 a ton. No witness before the committee was able to show a greater figure than $10 a ton."

"A most vigorous effort was made in the Senate to reduce the duties of the Senate bill back to those provided in the House measure. The effect of this was to protect our struggling American industries a duty, not measuring the difference between the cost of smelting at home and abroad, but a duty from $2.50 to $6.00 a ton more than the entire cost of smelting at home, was imposed."

CONFESS TO DETECTIVES

Thomas J. Molyneux Admits Shooting William L. Smith.

MAKES SELF-DEFENSE CLAIM

Clifford L. Feldheim, His Comrade, Confesses to Participation in Row Monday Night.

Having admitted their connection with the shooting of the legislator Monday night of William L. Smith, a colored resident of Rosslyn, Thomas J. Molyneux and Clifford L. Feldheim were sent to the second police station yesterday afternoon and detained until this morning, when they were taken to the Police Court and committed to jail to await the result of the wound suffered by the colored man.

Capt. Newbill, acting post commander at Fort Myer, turned the prisoners over to the civil authorities after requiring them to remove their uniforms and civilian clothes. Feldheim is twenty-one and Molyneux is twenty-three years old, and they look even younger. Their records during the time they have served in Troop C, 15th Cavalry, are stated to have been excellent, and surprise was expressed by their commanding officer that they should have become involved in such an affair.

Reasons for Silence.
Both men explained to Inspector Boardman that they had refrained from making admissions at the fort because they did not want to be locked up. They preferred to await the result of the shooting and then tell their stories, feeling that they would be exonerated without having to go to jail to await trial.

The story told by the young men was that they left the military reservation Monday night and went as far as Wisconsin avenue and M street, where they met some friends. On their way back to the bridge, they stopped at a saloon and each had a drink. Arriving at the bridge they saw a policeman have a negro under arrest and a little farther on they came upon four negroes. They said they tried to pass the colored men, but were stopped by a policeman. One of the negroes made use of an insulting epithet.

Not wanting to get in a mix-up with the men, they started to walk down the steps leading to the towpath, a policeman having warned them that they would get into trouble if they did not move on. While passing over the bridge, they said, they again came across the negroes and the latter renewed the insult, Smith being especially anxious for a row.

Strikes First Blow.
Molyneux admits that he struck the first blow, and while the man he struck was staggering about the bridge one of the latter's companions knocked him (Molyneux) down. Another man, he said, reached for his back pocket and drew a revolver. He dropped the weapon and then the weapon over the railing into the water.

At the time the shot was fired, he stated, Feldheim was struggling with one of the four negroes. Releasing himself, he said, they boarded a car, where the policeman came to arrest them. When they got out of the car, they stated, they were not in custody, and they hurried to the fort in order to tell their story before they would be marked absent.

Feldheim corroborates the statement of Molyneux.

ALEXANDRIA AFFAIRS

No Formal Applications for Succession to Lieut. Smith.

SEVEN NAMES MENTIONED

Police Commissioners Will Meet Wednesday to Consider the Matter of Filling the Vacancy.

Special Correspondence of the Star.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., July 22, 1910. Seven names of members of the police force for the vacancy caused by the death of Lieut. Smith have been mentioned. The board of police commissioners will meet Wednesday next for the purpose of filling the vacancy. So far as known no formal application has been made. Should the commissioners pick a man from the ranks it is probable that they will select at the same time a policeman who will, of course, be as a private. The secretary of the board has received many applications for this position. Besides the new ones there are many old applications on file.

An express wagon was driven yesterday into a house at the defendant's home, J. W. P. Goods, which was tied in front of the latter's home on upper King street. Mr. Goods' horse was knocked down and bruised and the wagon was damaged. The driver of the vehicle was cited to appear in the police court this morning.

At the City Court case was one for a civil court to consider.

Awarded $3,500 Damages.
Alfred S. Mason was awarded a verdict for $3,500 in the corporation court last night in his suit against the Washington, Alexandria and Mount Vernon Railway Company. The object of the suit was to recover $10,000 damages for injuries alleged to have been sustained while alighting from a train of the defendant company on August 9, 1909. The usual motion for a new trial, preliminary to taking an appeal, was noted. The plaintiff was represented by Attorney L. P. Harlow and the defendant company by Attorneys J. R. Cason & Son and Messrs. Moore, Barbour & Ketchum.

This morning to pay special attention to reckless driving of automobiles, the chief directed the police to make a list of all automobiles violating the speed limit and have them brought into court. This order was given following numerous complaints from citizens of the reckless driving on the streets.

Funeral of Lieut. Smith.
A large number of relatives and friends, together with fourteen members of the police force, last evening attended the funeral of Lieut. James Smith, which took place at 6 o'clock from his late home, 221 North Fairfax street. Rev. H. M. Canter, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, conducted the service, and the interment was made in Bethel cemetery. The floral offerings were handsome and
